Planning Ahead: How Hillsboro Prepares for Smart Growth

Confronting Future Challenges Early Leads to Cost Savings, Higher Quality of Life

Families gather at Hillsboro's Magnolia Park in Tanasbourne.

Hillsboro and Washington County's reputation as a highly-desirable place to live, and a strategic place to do business, has led to new employment opportunities and an increasing demand for housing, transportation, and other services – or, in a word, growth. With that expected growth comes more neighbors, more visitors, and more families heading to soccer practice or the grocery store.

Confronting future challenges early through advanced planning continues as the consistent philosophy of Hillsboro's leaders. City of Hillsboro employees have worked to anticipate and plan decades ahead for the inevitable challenges that come with the community's continued success, on issues such as:

- Transportation
- Infrastructure
- Water supply
- Housing
- Land use
- Parks & recreation
- Library services
- Economic development

HOUSING: Along with new housing in the Orenco Station, AmberGlen, and Downtown Hillsboro neighborhoods, the Hillsboro City Council continues to encourage additional housing development in South Hillsboro. The area is poised to welcome 20,000 new residents over the next 25 years, as 8,000 housing units are added.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Hillsboro Reduces Energy Usage by 21 Percent

Mayor Jerry Willey

Back in 2010, the City set some very aggressive sustainability goals for the future. We wanted to use energy more efficiently in our facilities – and save money in the process. Then, in 2012, we joined the U.S. Department of Energy's Better Buildings Challenge.

We made it a goal to reduce our electricity and natural gas usage 20 percent by 2020. We figured eight years would be enough to meet the goal, but it turns out we were wrong: we only needed four years! As of 2015, the City of Hillsboro has reduced energy use at our facilities by more than 21 percent. How did we do it?

We made it a priority to achieve our energy goals, and our Public Works Department's Facilities Maintenance team worked hard to improve both our mechanical heating and cooling systems, as well as our lighting.

Energy upgrades were part of the renovation of the Shute Park Branch Library in 2013 and 2014.

Planning for future transportation needs is a Hillsboro priority.

TRANSPORTATION: The region's transportation needs are entirely connected. The City's comprehensive planning includes an active partnership with TriMet on future public transit, and with Washington County on a 50-year transportation study. That collaborative approach is evident in South Hillsboro, where the City is working to ensure major intersections along TV Highway – at Cornelius Pass, 209th Avenue, and Century – are upgraded to meet regional demands.

WATER: Demand for water will only increase in the future. Hillsboro is partnering with the Tualatin Valley Water District on the $1 billion Willamette Water Supply Project to deliver water 26 miles to Hillsboro from Wilsonville. The Hillsboro Water Department is saving millions of dollars by building sections of the pipeline early while a road is under construction, eliminating the need to later tear up – and then replace – that same road in the future.

COMMUNITY GOALS: After gathering input from more than 5,000 community members, the Hillsboro 2035 Community Plan set new goals that build upon the accomplishments of the 2020 Vision and Action Plan. City staff and Hillsboro volunteers reached out to partner organizations. Together, they continue to work to address the needs of multiple generations of Hillsboro residents. The extensive public outreach effort continues with Hillsboro's Comprehensive Plan Update.

Regional growth continues to bring families to Hillsboro, Beaverton, and beyond. Hillsboro leaders recognize and acknowledge the concerns some residents have about growth, and are working to be cost efficient in how they plan ahead for expanded road capacity and new housing.

We have greatly improved water efficiency at our facilities – including a 15 percent improvement since 2012, when the City first benchmarked water use.

Other examples of our energy savings include:

- The conversion of swimming pool lighting to high-efficiency LED lights, and efficiency upgrades to the large boilers at the Shute Park Aquatic & Recreation Center (SHARC)
- High-efficiency lighting upgrades at several facilities, including SHARC, the Civic Center, and 53rd Avenue Park
- Retrofitting water pumps at the Civic Center and 53rd Avenue Park fountains to variable speeds
- More than 215 kilowatts of installed solar-energy production at City facilities, reducing the need for electricity from the grid

SHARC saw numerous energy-efficiency upgrades in 2015.

Hillsboro will be recognized for these important achievements at the May 2016 Better Buildings Summit in Washington, DC, including a ceremony at the White House. Our commitment to sustainability won't stop there. New technology will allow us to continue to use energy and water more efficiently.

You can help make our air and environment cleaner and healthier by reducing energy and water use at your home or business. Contact Energy Trust of Oregon or the Hillsboro Water Department to learn more about great incentives to improve the efficiency of your home or business. You may even encourage your business or organization to join the Better Buildings Challenge. Whether you reduce your energy use by 21 percent, or by 1 percent, it all helps!

CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

Our Police Deserve Our Appreciation

*City Manager
Michael Brown*

Each time a Hillsboro Police Department employee puts on a uniform or represents the City at a community event, they do so knowing they might be asked to defend their profession from decisions made in places far removed from Oregon: places like Chicago, New York, and Cleveland.

I can tell you that in Hillsboro, our public safety professionals care deeply about our community. They show respect and compassion in the most sensitive of situations. Fundamental to our Police Department's community-policing culture is their commitment to develop and maintain our community's trust. You often see our officers in black-and-white vehicles patrolling our neighborhoods. You may not see our Police Department's many other employees who perform a wide variety of duties aimed at increasing safety, addressing crime, and building community.

Hillsboro's School Resource Officers build positive relationships with thousands of students, encourage them to make positive choices, and demonstrate why families can trust our law enforcement to protect and serve them. At farmers' markets and local businesses, I have witnessed residents enjoying a casual conversation with our Police Department staff. I have attended our outstanding community-based education and outreach programs such as neighborhood mediation, Safety Town, the Citizens Academy, and the Innovations Academy.

Our City Council recognizes our community's need to show appreciation and respect for those who keep the rest of us safe. That's why the Council continues to support our public safety professionals. The next time you see a Hillsboro Police Department officer or other staff member being friendly, respectful, helpful, and caring, I ask you to let them know that you appreciate them. If you like what you see, let them know. Just as it's comforting to know that our Police Department employees are looking out for us, it's comforting for them to know the community is behind their work to help make Hillsboro a great place to live. Our community deserves a law enforcement staff as great as the Hillsboro Police Department.

Hillsboro Mayor, Council Positions Up for Election in November

The November 8, 2016, General Election will lead to changes on the Hillsboro City Council, including a new Mayor and at least one new City Councilor. Term limits prevent Mayor Jerry Willey and Councilor Olga Acuña from seeking another four-year term in office. All City Council positions are nonpartisan and represent the entire community. Elected terms are for four years. Candidates must be registered to vote in the State of Oregon and must reside in the City for at least one year immediately preceding the election.

Here are key dates for those interested in running for elected office:

Family Photo Opportunities at Hillsboro Public Works Day

The photos from past Hillsboro Public Works Days are priceless. Children of all ages climb up into the seat of an excavator or a street sweeper, a snow plow or a dump truck, and create some of the most unforgettable images of the year.

There's something special about seeing a youngster behind the wheel of a 30,000-pound piece of heavy-duty equipment. It helps put into perspective why Hillsboro Public Works Department employees work throughout the year to maintain our streets, utilities, and other essential infrastructure.

You don't have to be a kid to appreciate the City of Hillsboro's 5th annual Public Works Day on Saturday, May 21, at the Civic Center Plaza. Whether you're young or young at heart, you'll enjoy watching a demonstration of the robotic sewer TV camera, or connecting with Public Works Department and Hillsboro Water Department employees who can explain how the equipment works.

"It's really about community, and seeing what makes our City work on a daily basis – the people, the equipment, and the vision," said Tom Arnold, Director of the Hillsboro Public Works Department. "We hope you get a chance to stop by and get a first-hand view of how we help maintain our City's quality of life."

Have your face painted, or explore the Vactor truck and the front-end loader – Hillsboro Public Works Day has something for everyone. Also, by heading to the event this year between 8 am – 1:30 pm on Saturday, May 21, you can visit the Hillsboro Farmers' Market and the Proud to be HSD Festival while you are at the Civic Center Plaza.

Proud to be HSD Festival Showcases Student Success

The Hillsboro School District will hold its second annual Proud to be HSD Festival from 8 am to 1:30 pm on Saturday, May 21, in Downtown Hillsboro – in conjunction with the Hillsboro Farmers' Market. The Proud to be HSD Festival showcases student learning and talent, and provides an opportunity for the entire community to celebrate what's great about our education system.

Featured events include an art walk, student entrepreneur booths, a STEM/STEAM Pavilion (science, technology, engineering, arts and math), a performance stage, a mascot challenge, and much more. Three Years Later: Main Library's Second Floor Serving Tens of Thousands

Three years have passed since the Hillsboro Main Library's second floor expanded in 2013. Since then, the second floor has played host to music performances, book sales, fundraisers, a wedding, the Reptile Man show, a Naturalization Ceremony for new American citizens, and the annual State of the City address for three consecutive years.

With six study rooms and two conference rooms available to use, free of charge, second-floor meeting space has been in demand. In 2015, library patrons booked the study and conference rooms for nearly 20,000 hours, while larger spaces – such as the Event Room and Board Room – hosted groups for about 4,500 hours. Other second-floor amenities include: the quiet room for reading magazines, newspapers, and periodicals; and public computers, which help patrons research and apply for job opportunities.

The second floor is also home to Art in the Library, featuring more than 14 local-artist exhibits that rotate every two months. In May and June, the space will feature a large photography exhibit by Rose Engelfried, along with a smaller showing of paintings by Tina Engelfried, and a collection by the Companion Art Program. Next time you visit the Main Library, head upstairs to discover all that the Main Library's second floor has to offer.

5 Things You Didn't Know About Hillsboro's Sister City – Fukuroi, Japan

Hillsboro's Sister City partnership with Fukuroi, Japan, began in 1988, and the cultural exchange is poised to continue well into the future. Get to know our neighbors in the Far East with these fun facts about Fukuroi:

1. Fukuroi is located 120 miles southeast of Tokyo. Mt. Fuji is about halfway between the two cities.
2. Fukuroi's estimated population is 87,226. Not included in that count is Puffy, Fukuroi's mascot. (See photo below) The owl – "fukuro" in Japanese – is the unofficial bird of Fukuroi due to its almost identical pronunciation.
3. Fukuroi is also the home of three major temples: Hattasan Sonei-ji, Yusan-ji, and Kasuisai, which was built in 1394 and features a landscape with millions of lilies.
4. The main crops in Fukuroi are green tea and melon. Premium musk melons can sell for more than $400 each.
5. When it's noon on Monday in Hillsboro, it's 4 am on Tuesday in Fukuroi. Fukuroi is 16 hours ahead of Hillsboro.

2016 Mayor's Gift Art "Unrushed, at the Venetian"

While traveling on behalf of the City, Mayor Jerry Willey presents art as his official gift to express the creative spirit of Hillsboro. His selection for 2016, "Unrushed, at the Venetian" by Thi Doan, highlights Hillsboro's unique Downtown city scene – a relaxed atmosphere where people enjoy spending time together.

Thi Doan grew up in Hillsboro with parents who emigrated from Vietnam. English is her second language, and art is a way to express herself that transcends language. Thi painted in black and white to create a vintage feel, with the accents of color. She hopes her artwork helps us appreciate the connections that draw us together.

Hillsboro's Main, Shute Park Branch Libraries Offer Bicycle "Fixtations"

The Main Library and Shute Park Branch Library now offer bicycle "fixtations": stations outside each branch that feature wrenches, screwdrivers, tire levers, an air pump, and a stand to hold a bicycle for repairs. The City of Hillsboro's Sustainability Revolving Fund provided funding for the "fixtations", which were installed by City employees. Now, it's even more fun to ride your bike to the Library.

5 Ways Your Spring Cleaning Can Keep Your Family Safe

Blue skies and blooming flowers signal it's time to do a little spring cleaning. The Hillsboro Fire Department has a few suggestions on how reducing clutter inside and around your home can help you avoid a fire:

- Unclutter your home, garage, and basement by removing unused items, stored newspapers, or rubbish that can fuel a fire and make it more difficult to escape your home if a fire breaks out.
- Clean your clothes dryer. In addition to cleaning the lint filter before or after each load of laundry, remove the lint that has collected around the drum and in the vent hose.
- Keep all storage materials away from pilot lights and heaters.
- Store flammable liquids in approved safety cans that prevent the escape of vapors. Store them in a shed or detached garage.
- Check propane barbecue/grill hoses for leaks and cracks, and never store propane indoors.

The Hillsboro Fire Department webpage is a great resource for safety information year-round. Help keep your family safe by reading more helpful tips at Hillsboro-Oregon.gov/Fire

Washington County Bond Measure: Emergency Communications System

When a person calls 911 for help, Washington County's emergency communications system is used to dispatch first responders to the scene as quickly as possible. The system is used by all law enforcement, fire and rescue, and ambulance service providers countywide. The system has worked for decades but, now: manufacturers no longer make key parts, the technology is outdated, and the buildings and towers are not designed to withstand a major earthquake.

For these reasons, Washington County voters are asked to consider Bond Measure 34-243 to replace and upgrade the emergency communications system. With voter approval on May 17, Washington County would issue general obligation bonds to pay for $77 million in capital costs for emergency and 9-1-1 equipment and facilities, including:

- Converting the existing system to current technology
- Improving countywide coverage by installing more towers
- Strengthening facilities for earthquakes, storms, and other emergencies
- Providing for efficient expansion of the 9-1-1 center and emergency response facilities
- Replacing approximately 3,000 analog radios currently used by first responders countywide

The projected levy rate is not expected to exceed 8 cents per $1,000 of assessed value. The actual rate may vary depending on changes in bond interest rates and assessed values. This rate would be levied over less than 21 years. A typical homeowner would pay about $20 in 2016. This assumes an average assessed value (not market value) of $255,408.

7 Quick Tips to Help Prevent Identity Theft

Hillsboro Police Department employees have seen an increase in reported cases of fraud and identity theft. The criminals can be crafty and believable in deceiving people in order to steal identities and defraud them out of money. To help prevent these crimes from happening to you, Hillsboro Police Department staff offer these seven tips:

- Never give your social security number or any personal data to anyone over the phone or online without verification first.
- Treat all solicitations with a healthy skepticism, and ask many questions.
- Never arrange to exchange money over the phone or online without verification of legitimacy.
- Treat your insurance policy numbers as confidential information.
- If asked for personal information over the phone or online, stop and pause the transaction. Get off the phone and call back after talking with a trusted friend or family member.
- Report suspicious activity by calling the Hillsboro Police Department's non-emergency dispatch line at 503-629-0111.
- Destroy your confidential documents properly. You can bring your unwanted documents to the HPD Shred It event on Saturday, May 7, at the Downtown Hillsboro Post Office.

Road Report: The NE 28th Avenue Road Improvement Project

Most Hillsboro residents know that NE 28th Avenue serves as an important connection between Main Street and Cornell Road. Currently, NE 28th Avenue is two lanes, and lacks sidewalks and bicycle lanes.

Here is how City of Hillsboro Public Works Department employees are working to upgrade the road:

- City employees are expanding the road to three lanes south of the MAX Light Rail tracks, and to five lanes north of the tracks.
- The road is being designed as a "complete street" with buffered bike lanes, landscaped planter strips, and sidewalks that will make commuting easier whether you drive, bike, or walk.
- The project will greatly improve pedestrian access and safety by installing a new traffic signal where Veterans Drive and Grant Street meet, and two crosswalks with flashing beacons on both sides of NE 28th Avenue
- This project also includes a "smart" street-lighting system, which can be optimized to save energy and reduce light pollution.
- The project is scheduled to be complete by August 2016.
